

5TH MEETING OF AOGS
BUSAN IN KOREA
JUNE 16 TO 20, 2008

AOGS, the Asia Oceania Geosciences Society, holds the key to professional networking of geoscientists in Asia and Oceania.

AOGS 2008 Meeting Venue: BEXCO (Busan Exhibition and Convention Center)

AOGS Membership by country

AOGS President
Atsuhiro Nishida

The AOGS meeting at Busan is to be our second experience of holding our meeting outside Singapore, where AOGS was founded in 2004. This follows our very successful meeting in Bangkok in 2007 where AOGS was strengthened by receiving record numbers of participants and papers, about 1,100 and 1,200, respectively. It provided an excellent opportunity for international scientists to meet with the geoscientists of Thailand and to build fruitful collaborations. It also allowed us to glimpse the unique culture and traditions of Thailand.

I expect our Busan meeting to further enhance the presence of AOGS in the geosciences community, not only in Asia and Oceania but also in the world as a whole. Ours is a young Society in terms of the membership as well, 30% of the participants at Bangkok were under the age of 35.

You are requested to attend the meeting in this scenic city to report on your recent research outcomes. In particular, we are asking Korean geoscientists to take full advantage of this opportunity to meet and interact with geoscientists coming from numerous countries and regions; participants at Bangkok hailed from 55 of them.

Geoscience is a discipline which has two faces, one is academic and the other is practical. Both are closely linked and have developed together by exchanging problems and solutions between them. It is a discipline that is highly relevant to Asia and Oceania, which are rich in natural phenomena that wait to be understood for both scientific and societal reasons. AOGS is to play a pivotal role in this effort. Please come to Busan and increase the value of the meeting by your participation.

Meetings of AOGS also provide an opportunity for organizations in both the public and private sectors to reach out to the geosciences community worldwide by presenting their objectives and programs at the Exhibition. We hope that the Exhibition at the Busan meeting will also be actively participated in by organizations working in geosciences or in related areas inside and outside Korea.

Message from AOGS 2008
Local Advisory Committee Co-Chairs

The Asia Oceania Geosciences Society (AOGS) holds its 5th Annual Meeting in Busan, Korea to expand its presence in Geosciences communities in the region and in the world. We are delighted to host the Annual Meeting in Busan and to participate in that endeavour. The citizens, media and the Busan Metropolitan City government are also enthusiastic about the meeting. The city, located in the South-Eastern corner of the Korean Peninsular is a perfect place for such meetings as the city offers diverse activities from which practically every visitor can find something of interest. We would like to invite colleagues in geo-scientific communities and accompanying persons to this exciting meeting and to this lively city.

Busan – an International Maritime Tourism City where Tradition and Culture Breathe together

Bum-uh temple in the fall
Built in 678, during the reign of King Moonmoo of the Shilla Dynasty, by the Great Monk Uehsa, Bum-uh sa is one of the five largest temples in Korea and is located on Mt. Kumjung, which is to the north of Busan. Bum-uh sa has many precious legacies and cultural treasures. The Single Pillar Gate has a unique structure of four pillars.

BEXCO – Busan Exhibition and Convention Centre

Haeundae
Busan Metropolitan City, also known as Pusan is the largest port city in the Republic of Korea. With a population of about 3.65 million. Busan is also South Korea's second largest metropolis, after Seoul. The two largest central business districts in Busan are Seomyeon and Gwangbok-dong/Nampo-dong. There are also four substantial shopping areas of note: Seomyeon, Gwangbok-dong, Busan Dae Hakap in Jangjeon-dong, and Haeundae.

Jaigaichi Market
Is an area of narrow street stalls and is well known for its fish market. The Gukje Market is also located nearby. Jungang-dong is the home of many international law offices, the old Immigration Office, and the international ferry terminal serving Japanese routes.
