

In-Sik KANG

Professor of School of Earth Environmental Sciences, Seoul National University

Prof. In-Sik Kang is currently Professor of School of Earth Environment Sciences and has been a Director of Climate Environment System Research Center at Seoul National University. He has been a SNU Professor since 1986 after his post-doc at GFDL/Princeton University. He has actively involved in various international programs, particularly as members of various WCRP panels such as Asian-Australian Monsoon Panel, Working Group on Seasonal-Interannual Prediction, Pacific Panel, and others. He is now a member of WCRP Joint Science Committee (JSC) He has published over 150 papers in SCI Journals and book chapters related to Monsoon and climate modeling and prediction.