

SUBMISSIONS

Regular Session

Past Sessions & Conveners: 2024 | 2023 | 2022 | 2021 | 2020

This type of session proposal covers topics that belong to any one of the 8 AOGS Scientific Sections of the society – Atmospheric (AS), Biogeoscience (BG), Hydrological (HS), Interdisciplinary (IG), Ocean (OS), Planetary (PS), Solar & Terrestrial (ST) and Solid Earth (SE). Once submission closes, Section Presidents will evaluate the proposals

- Those accepted will be listed on MARS to invite abstract submission
- Those rejected will not be listed
- Those whose contents are similar or closely related may be joined, combined or merged to form a single session. If the session involves 3 or more Sections, the session will be channelled to Interdisciplinary Geosciences (IG)

Rules

1. The subject of a session should have a sufficiently broad appeal that it can be expected to consist of at least ten papers. The actual time allocation will vary according to the number of accepted abstracts. If a session has less than 10 accepted abstracts, the Section President and Program Committee reserve the right to move the abstracts to another session.
2. Session proposals with broader themes and larger scales are favoured, and session proposals with strong overlap are likely to be merged. This is so as to minimize repetition and to build a program with sessions that are fewer but larger and stronger.
3. Co-conveners must be from at least 2 countries. The minimum number of conveners is 2 and the maximum number of conveners is 5, per session.
4. Two session proposals is the maximum limit. No Convener may submit more than 2 session proposals.
5. Invited papers should not exceed one third of oral presentations in a given session, the only exception is for sessions of great timeliness (such as a recent natural disaster or the first reports from new international scientific programs or space missions).
6. Convener and Co-Conveners cannot present or be a co-author to an invited paper in their own session. Any paper with an overlap between the co-authors and the co-conveners cannot be designated as invited.
7. Program Committee will take note of scheduling requests but cannot guarantee that requests can be accommodated. Sessions could be scheduled between Monday morning and Friday afternoon.

How to submit your regular session proposal

Please visit our FAQ page to find answers to frequently asked questions

MARS is the online conference administration platform, and in order to carry out one of more of these crucial tasks, a user account is required.

To set up a user account, log onto the portal and follow the “Create A New User Account” instructions. Click “Login → “Create A New User Account”

You can use your existing user account for future events without needing to create a new one.

Log into the portal and follow the submission guidelines provided in the “My Session Proposal” section of the Author Options dashboard.

You can make changes using the “Edit” function before the submission deadline; there is no need to withdraw and resubmit.

Special Session

The themes for this kind of session proposal should be unique, and the subjects presented should differ significantly from those covered in the AOGS regular sections. Sessions such as these are invitation-only.

Rules

1. The session organiser should not be a speaker at the Special Session.
2. Only Invited Speakers are featured and the invitation is not transferable
3. Every Invited Speaker needs register (and pay fee if applicable) to participate
4. All Speakers/Prospective Session Participants should have agreed to participate in the session before the Session Proposal is submitted.

How to submit your proposal for Special Session

To assist in creating and developing a proposal based on a session format of your choosing, kindly use the template below. We request that you email your proposal and any supporting documents (in.doc or.docx format) for the consideration of the AOGS Program Committee to cwutyphoon@ntu.edu.tw

Announcement: 2025 AOGS Key Lectures & Call for Nominations

Dear Members,

AOGS is now accepting nominations for key lecture speakers for our 2025 Annual Meeting which will be taking place from 27 July to 01 August, 2025 at the Marina Bay Sands Singapore’s Expo and Convention Centre. We invite members to propose distinguished individuals who have made significant contributions to geosciences and can provide valuable insights to our community.

Below are details on each key lecture and the nomination process.

Key Lecture Categories

1. Axford Lecture with a maximum of 2 per annual meeting
The Axford Lectures are society-level talks delivered on the opening day of the annual meeting to all attendees.
2. Distinguished Lecture with a maximum of 1 per section
The Section Distinguished Lectures focus on specific geoscience disciplines within the society, each headed by a Section President. The eight key areas are: Atmospheric Sciences, Biogeosciences, Hydrological Sciences, Interdisciplinary Geosciences, Ocean Sciences, Planetary Sciences, Solar & Terrestrial Sciences, and Solid Earth Sciences
3. Kamide Award Lecture with a maximum of 2 winners per section
The Kamide Lectures are award presentations by early career researchers. Like the Section Distinguished Lectures, the talks center on the society's eight geoscience disciplines.

Guidelines and Requirements

1. Criteria, Selection Procedure, AOGS Guidelines and Policy can be found at this URL: https://www.asiaoceania.org/aogs2025/public.asp?page=support_and_re_sources.asp#SLSPSB
Please abide by them strictly.
2. Submission Deadline
All nominations must be submitted by 22 October 2024.
3. How to Nominate
 - 3.1 Section Distinguished Lectures and Kamide Award Lectures
Email the Award Committee Chair and the relevant Section President –
The nominee's name, affiliation, a brief biography, and a summary of their achievements.
The email addresses are listed in the Selection Committee section of this announcement.
 - 3.2 Axford Lectures These should be submitted via MARS, the AOGS online platform under "Nomination" in the "Author Options" section.
 - To set up a user account, log onto the portal and follow the "Create A New User Account" instructions. Click "Login → "Create A New User Account"
 - You can use your existing user account for future events without needing to create a new one.
4. Benefits for speakers
 - The speakers will receive a plaque, financial support, and free admission to the annual meeting when the lectures will be given.
 - The papers pertaining to the key lectures will be published in the society's journal after they are presented at the annual meeting. The society will pay the article processing charge.

We encourage all members to participate in this important process by nominating deserving individuals who have made significant contributions to our field.
